ANTIBIOTIC RESISTANCE RAP TO THE TUNE OF “THE FRESH PRINCE OF BEL-AIR”

- Now this is a story all about how
 - Antibiotics got flipped turned upside down
 - And I’d like to take a minute, just sit right there
 - I’ll tell ya antibiotic resistance became quite a scare

 - In 1940 penicillin was seen
 - Quickly followed by penicillin binding protein
 - Then MRSA, ESBL, and KPC
 - Don’t even get me started talkin’ ‘bout CRE
 - Then a few antibiotics that were overused
 - Started causing trouble at Meadowview
 - Patient had one loose stool and the doc got scared
 - He said “Go to isolation, Cdiff can’t be shared

 - Infection control reviewed it, chart after chart
 - Clinda? Levaquin? ... That’s where we’ll start
 - We gave ‘em some Flagyl and some probiotics
 - Add Vanco, its pseudomembranous colitis!
- First recurrence, yo, this is iffy!
 - We need some policies in place to make a diffy
 - How ‘bout a stewardship team in the plot?
 - Hmm, ok! It’s worth a shot

 - We started implementin’ ideas and clearly
 - We need 48 hour time outs ‘n antibiograms yearly
 - From there therapy changed from IV to PO
 - Collateral damage? Forget it! I gotta go!

 - Even though we’re combating resistance here
 - It won’t do us any good if we don’t adhere
 - It takes everyone
 - Lab, Pharm, and RN
 - Antibiotic Resistance.....ARE YOU IN??
